

Look! English Semester ahead

Mar 12, 2015

During the present academic course, the number of graduated students that will have had an international experience abroad is above 30% at Bachelor level. Even when these numbers are well above those recommended in the Horizon2020 European program, 20%, most of the Bachelor students do not have an international experience during their studies.

Since internationalization is a competence that ALL students should experiment, at the Faculty of Engineering at Mondragon Unibertsitatea the model IaH is being pushed with several initiatives. Among these, a full Fifth Semester in English in all Undergraduate Programs will be implemented. Besides a better integration of international and local students, this English Semester is also intended to impulse new collaboration projects with foreign universities and other agents.

You may have a look to the concrete subjects that will be taught in English following this link
