

The Master Program in Intrapreneurship and Open Innovation (MINN) will start in India in 2015.

Aug 19, 2014

MINN is an Executive Master's Program created by Mondragon Team Academy (MTA), which is affiliated to the Mondragon University. The program will be conducted in 3 different international locations each year (Europe, China and India).

The MINN Program started in 2010 in the Basque Country and has been supported by the Mondragon Corporation Knowledge Division to create entrepreneurial executive leaders who will be able to transform their organizations through innovation projects and new start-ups (entrepreneurship) or spin-offs (intrapreneurship).

This global master's program is an outcome of the strategic partnership between Mondragon University and MIDAS, a Pune-based organization that fosters entrepreneurship. MIDAS is an acronym for Management, Innovation, Design, Arts and Social Sciences, and at MIDAS, participants go through a rigorous program to develop the skills and the attitude that can make them highly successful entrepreneurs. The agreement between Mondragon University and MIDAS involves the creation of an MTA lab in Pune as a Basque-India innovation network initiative to encourage work in the field of entrepreneurship in the country. Mondragon University has shared their innovative European model on Entrepreneurship education training with MIDAS so that young Indians, including executive entrepreneurs from Indian corporates, can benefit from an incubator in Pune that will promote new start-ups and spin-offs.
