

Increasing relations with the University of Skövde

Jun 19, 2012

This very active Swedish University, is receiving every year several of our students for Erasmus exchanges in engineering areas. Looking forward to increasing our relations, two lecturers from the University of Skövde, Magnus Holm and Göran Adamson, have recently visited us. Since they are members of the Automation Group at their university, they have taught a course in Robotics in our Bachelor in Industrial Electronics program. The course has been focus on the robot offline programming and simulation using ABB's software RobotStudio. A closer collaboration with the University of Skövde, especially in the in the Electronics Area, is foreseen in the near future.
